1       Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2       tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3 “Assets for Independence Act”.

5 this Act is as follows:

6 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

7 Congress makes the following findings:

8 (1) Economic well-being does not come solely 9 from income, spending, and consumption, but also 10 requires savings, investment, and accumulation of 11 assets because assets can improve economic inde-
12 pendence and stability, connect individuals with a 13 viable and hopeful future, stimulate development of 14 human and other capital, and enhance the welfare of 15 offspring.

16 (2) Fully ½ of all Americans have either no,
17 negligible, or negative assets available for invest-

1       ment, just as the price of entry to the economic 2       mainstream, the cost of a house, an adequate edu-
3       cation, and starting a business, is increasing. Fur-
4       ther, the household savings rate of the United States
5       lags far behind other industrial nations presenting a
6       barrier to economic growth.

7               (3) In the current tight fiscal environment, the 8       United States should invest existing resources in 9       high-yield initiatives. There is reason to believe that 10      the financial returns, including increased income, tax
11      revenue, and decreased welfare cash assistance, re-
12      sulting from individual development accounts will far
13      exceed the cost of investment in those accounts.

14             (4) Traditional public assistance programs con-
15      centrating on income and consumption have rarely 16      been successful in promoting and supporting the 17      transition to increased economic self-sufficiency. In-18      come-based domestic policy should be complemented
19      with asset-based policy because, while income-based 20      policies ensure that consumption needs (including 21      food, child care, rent, clothing, and health care) are 22      met, asset-based policies provide the means to 23      achieve greater independence and economic well-
24      being.

1 SEC. 3. PURPOSES.

2       The purposes of this Act are to provide for the estab-
3 lishment of demonstration projects designed to deter-
4 mine—

5           (1) the social, civic, psychological, and economic 6 effects of providing to individuals and families with 7 limited means an incentive to accumulate assets by 8 saving a portion of their earned income;

9           (2) the extent to which an asset-based policy
10 that promotes saving for education, homeownership,
11 and microenterprise development may be used to en-
12 able individuals and families with limited means to 13 increase their economic self-sufficiency; and

14           (3) the extent to which an asset-based policy
15 stabilizes and improves families and the community
16 in which they live.

17 SEC. 4. DEFINITIONS.

18       In this Act:

19           (1) APPLICABLE PERIOD.—The term “applica-

14 for whose benefit the trust is established
15 dies shall be distributed within 30 days of

1 the satisfaction of the Secretary, that the man-
2 ner in which such person will administer the 3 custodial account will be consistent with the re-
4 quirements of this Act, and if the custodial ac-
5 count would, except for the fact that it is not 6 a trust, constitute an individual development
7 account described in subparagraph (A). For 8 purposes of this Act, in the case of a custodial 9 account treated as a trust by reason of the pre-
10 ceding sentence, the custodian of that custodial
